

ABSTRACT

IS INTENTION OF PARLIAMENT – A KEY TO INTERPRETATION AND CONSTRUCTION OF A STATUTE?

*Subuhi Hassan

Judiciary will always takes into account the intention of parliament while interpreting and constructing the statute .This paper attempts to discuss the fundamental rule of statutory interpretation , intention of parliament derived in framing an statute , objective behind the interpretation and construction , most important the three rules of interpretation and in each rule the intention of parliament is been focused. Some light over cases in each segment of the sub topic and lastly how the judges will deal with the problem of statutory interpretation before that difficulties faced by judiciary also be discussed.

