

ABSTRACT

UNIFORM CIVIL CODE AND MINORITY RIGHTS IN INDIA

* ASHOK.A

The Indian constitution insists on uniform civil code through article 44 . But Dr.Ambedkar , the first law minister of India interpreted in distinctive way and voiced out for the minorities that Uniform civil code should not be imposed without their consent. Justice V.R. Krishna iyer also advocated that reforms may be carried out in the personal laws to reach gender justice and the minorities right should not be taken away in the name of article 44 .